

The Granny Adventures To write a narrative extract

Story Background

After being told to "hurry up and die," by a mean young care worker in the residential home, Betty and Ethel escape! Under the bright moonlight, the two brave pensioners waddle out with their shiny Zimmer-frames and back-packs heading off to see the world. Their adventures begin by visiting the sites of London including having afternoon tea with the Queen and riding on the London Eye. Eventually the two wrinkly explorers find themselves on a ferry crossing the River Mersey to visit Liverpool.

Brief

Write the next extract for the story as the women cross the river. Include details about what the two characters could see, hear, smell, taste and feel. You could include other characters and dialogue in your extract. Make sure that you include a range of writing features, in particular figurative language features.

inv com
em

"I've been waiting for this moment, since my mother dumped me!" the old hag called Betty exclaimed.

qm
em

"So have I but you know what would make this trip even better?" the quaint elder named Ethel asked.

pare

"Pickled onion sandwiches!" they shouted in unison. The old ladies began imagining the taste of sweet onions inside their gummy mouths, (whilst sitting on a crooked bench) however they were interrupted by the cacophony of the ferry's horn.

"Finally, we can^{go} and visit the Queen!" Ethel screamed.

"This is Liverpool - not London!" Betty corrected, "anyway if we're going to reach our destination, then we'd better board this boat!"

So the two pensioners joyously wandered onto the boat, however were distracted by the captain's dais and stepped onto it, as if they were in a trance.