

To calculate the perimeter of compound shapes

First, find the missing sides, then add all of them together, remembering your units.

